

BUZZ WAGONS ON DRESS PARADE

In Serried Ranks They Are Drawn Up at "Attention" in the Armory Drill Room For Inspection by the Public—A Show Really Worth While.

"Bigger and better than ever" is not an empty phrase when applied to the Kingston Automobile Show, which opened this morning. It really is all of that and is the best automobile show of the season given outside the very large cities. Then dealers are showing a total of 50 cars of widely varying type and price. These cars, unlike many shown in the big city shows, are not special models but are placed on exhibition from the stock of the various garage men of the city who have promoted this big show for Kingston. If it is a sedan, coupe, touring, roadster, racer or any other model chosen by experts for the pleasure of the motorist of today it will be found on display at the show. The commercial end of the industry also proves interesting with the complete line of trucks, tractors and accessories that are carried in the city and have been placed on display for the betterment of the exhibit.

Speedy Velle Six.

The Forsyth & Davis Motor Car Co. represented by Manager Roy M. Smith, have placed on exhibition one of the speediest cars yet shown to Kingstonians. In the Velle six cylinder roadster with a direct exhaust is one of the finest appearing and performing speedsters in the show. It is equipped with a four speed transmission and geared upon four, and is capable of the speed affording that pleases the fast driver. As their leader for an all year car the Franklin "S" closed model, supplies luxury at a nominal cost of upkeep. This year's models of the Chevrolet, four and six cylinder cars of three body designs, show great improvement which will interest the buyer who wants a moderate priced car for all purposes.

Famous Knight Motor.

George J. Schryver, proprietor of the Kingston Taxi Service and distributor of the Willys-Overland Company's productions, has a fine selection of all types of both open and closed cars that appeal. For endurance the famous Knight motor has proven itself to the many owners in Ulster county and the 1919 Willys-Knight eight cylinder seven passenger touring car that Mr. Schryver is featuring at the show attracts much attention for its beauty and completeness of equipment, which includes wire wheels. Also on display in this space is the Overland car which has convinced buyers with its performance and the Willys-Overland adds to the difficulty of selections from this famous company's output.

A Luxurious Line.

The Van Benschoten garage on Broadway is exhibiting one of the finest lines of motor cars at the show among the higher priced, luxurious types. In their selection are the Marmon, Peerless, Chalmers, Studebaker and Dodge cars. The yellow wire wheels add beauty and gracefulness to the closed models of the Dodge car. These are on display in the rear of the popular priced coupe and sedan closed cars.

Fords With Liberty Starters.

For price, comfort and reliability the James Millard & Son Company have placed at the show the new model of the Ford sedan. This car is equipped with a Liberty starter powered by an electric generator and carries an extra battery for lighting system. The starter installed in this car met the approval of Uncle Sam's experts as a part of the equipment of the Liberty motor used in the motor transport cars that were used in France to transport supplies and adds greatly to the popularity of the Ford car for ladies use. The company is also equipped with this system of forcing no difficulty for the man or woman who objects to using a crank. Roadsters and five passenger Fords are also on display by these dealers.

A Varied Line.

A. H. Chambers of the Starvation Garage on Union avenue has added to his list of cars for distribution this year. Six in all models. The four cylinder, 16 valve motor that the Stutz affords and the double knuckle system has no hesitancy in responding when the foot is pressed on the accelerator. It is a well known fact that this car has performed wonders for speed and since taking the agency Mr. Chambers has had three in this city to buyers who are recognized as critics. A special feature of this exhibit of cars is the fire red color Stutz roadster that was recently purchased from Mr. Chambers by Julius Oppenheimer, the jeweler but by request is now on display. It is said by some dealers that this car is the best of its kind that does the best and fastest of "roadsters." The Oldsmobile "luxury" eight cylinder car leads this line for beauty. The body of this touring model is entirely finished in white and presents a detail of motor perfection. The roadster "six" of this line is entirely trimmed in solid nickel and produces a brilliant effect. The Oldsmobile was finished by the Philip Dingee. It was running around in circles and passing those in the city and is very showy. For the best of small car of efficiency and beauty the Maxwell touring and roadster models complete the display of this brilliant auto man.

RONCOUT CREEK BRIDGE BIDS ARE ADVERTISED FOR

SEVEN DIVISIONS IN BIG PARADE

Soldiers Welcoming Committee Anxious For Acceptances From Those Desiring to Participate—Other Committees Named.

The committee on invitations of the parade and entertainment committee for the welcome celebration to returning soldiers and sailors wishes to call attention to the absolute necessity of receiving acceptances from fraternal organizations, societies, factories, etc., by Saturday of this week, March 15.

The grand marshal must have this information by Saturday in order that he may have sufficient time to place the various units in the parade. This is a most difficult task with the parade which will set a new record with respect to the number in line.

Committee Has Hard Task.

The committee on invitations, faced a difficult task in preparing the invitation list. There is of necessity a vast amount of overlapping when invitations are sent to all organizations in the city.

The principle on which the committee operated was to follow the precedent of earlier parades as far as possible. Seven divisions are planned. Grand Marshal Division, Firemen's Division, Business Men's Division, Factory, Shipyard and Industrial Workers' Division, Fraternal Organizations and Societies Division, School Division and the division including the returning soldiers.

Chairman Everett Fowler of the parade and entertainment committee has appointed the following committees: Committee on grand stand, Chief Wood, Walter P. Crane and Charles Finn; committee on music, Aaron Cohen, N. D. J. Murphy and Dr. Mark O'Meara; committee on floral memorial, George Burgerlin, W. H. Van Slyke and Morris Block.

COLORED CITIZENS

Of the City Invited to Meet J. R. B.

Smith Lodge Members.

All colored organizations, male and female, also all colored citizens of the city, are invited to meet the members of J. R. B. Smith Lodge, No. 4473, G. L. O. O. F., at their home, 143 Cornell street, on Wednesday evening, March 13, Doors open 7:30 p. m. This invitation is extended by Charles M. Clark, chairman, and James R. Day, secretary.

Victims Dog Shot.

Wednesday night Officer Healey shot a vicious dog at the corner of Perry street and Hasbrouck avenue. The dog was said to be owned by Philip Dingee. It was running around in circles and passing those in the vicinity. Officer Healey fired but one shot from his trusty revolver.

Canfield Dog Coming Back.

Among the many former employees of the Canfield State Co., who have returned from the fighting forces of France, is Harry Canfield, who arrived on the steamship Mongolian.

Specifications Call for Complete Bridge With Approaches, Proposals to be Submitted on April 22—Huge Amount of Material Called for.

Bids for the construction of the Rondout Creek bridge will be received by the State Highway Department on April 22, according to an advertisement printed in The Freeman today.

The bridge is to consist of two steel arches, each 320 feet in length, two reinforced concrete approaches of arches and retaining walls, and one bituminous macadam approach 1,300 feet in length.

Some of the items in the contract are: 960 tons of structural steel, 270,000 pounds of metal reinforcement, 14,030 barrels of Portland cement, 2,100 cubic yards of first class concrete, 5,490 cubic yards of second class concrete and 1,530 yards of third class concrete.

It is understood that this contract is for all the work of building the bridge, with the exception of the pier contract awarded some time ago and not yet completed. As stated by The Freeman recently, this contract will be cancelled and new proposals asked for if work is not resumed by April 1. It is unlikely that work will be resumed until a new contract has been awarded. This need not delay the building of the bridge. In fact all excuses for delay have been exhausted.

Bids are also solicited for resurfacing with bituminous macadam a Section No. 3 of the Ellenville-Kingston road.

27TH MEN SEND IN LOCAL NAMES ON CASUALTY LIST

The Ulster county citizens' committee is anxious to get the present address of every returned soldier in the 27th division. If the parents and friends will notify Fred Doremus, the city clerk, the full name and address of regiment, etc., it will greatly assist the committee in completing plans for the early release of these soldiers.

IN THE SERVICE OF OUR COUNTRY

First Class Private Clarence Vandemark of Headquarters Co. 107, 27th division, is enjoying a short furlough at the home of his parents, 488 Hasbrouck avenue. Private Vandemark arrived from France Sunday on the New Amsterdam and is receiving a hearty welcome from his many friends.

Howard Sander of New Paltz received word Monday from the war department of the death of his son, Randolph Sander, in France. Several months ago Mr. Sander received word that his son was wounded in action and since then all efforts on his part to hear from his son have been unavailing.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE WINS 3 SHIPPING DAYS

R. R. Administration Regional Director in Answer to Petition Gives Assurance of Modification of "Sailing Day" Plan to Meet Local Conditions.

Kingston shippers are to have three shipping days a week instead of two for less than carload lots not passing through transfer points.

This assurance was received by the Chamber of Commerce this morning from G. C. Woodruff, regional chairman, Eastern region, United States Railroad Administration. Mr. Woodruff's assurance comes in answer to the resolution of the Chamber of Commerce and petition of Kingston shippers, which was presented through the Chamber of Commerce.

The movement to procure this change in shipping days was carried through under the leadership of the special committee of the Chamber of Commerce on shipping days and traffic conditions, of which William H. Niles is chairman. The other members of this committee are William Reedell, Louis Hoysradt, Charles Ramsey, R. E. Leighton, Frank Matthews, W. C. Kingman and J. T. Johnson.

Shippers Signed Petition.

This committee arranged the recent shippers' conference of the Chamber of Commerce at which representatives of the shippers and the railroad administration discussed the questions involved. It also circulated the petition which was signed by Kingston shippers interested.

Mr. Woodruff's letter follows: UNITED STATES RAILROAD ADMINISTRATION, Eastern Region.

New York, N. Y., March 11, 1919. Mr. Sydney D. M. Hudson, Secretary Chamber of Commerce, Kingston, N. Y.

I have your letter of March 7th, and have noted same carefully, together with resolution adopted March 20, by the Kingston Chamber of Commerce, asking a modification of the sailing day plan, with respect to less than carload shipments and a passing through transfer points, also petition signed by Kingston shippers.

I have looked into the details of the traffic from Kingston, and with first of all to assure you that it is the desire to have all arrangements satisfactory to the shipping public at the point involved, and therefore in all our understanding the approval of interested commercial bodies of shippers, is essential before any plan can be a success.

Accepts C. of C. Evidence.

There are many reasons in favor of the two day a week acceptance on this way freight merchandise but I assume these have all been considered by you, and the before any considering your letter, with enclosures, on the basis that after you have given the matter consideration from all angles, you are convinced that the shippers of Kingston need three days a week on this territory.

I am also glad to note in other respects the plan as instituted meets with your approval as a fair trial will develop its many advantages in getting your freight to destinations more promptly. Therefore in direct answer to your letter, and the petition, signed by

20,000 27TH MEN HAVE RETURNED

MRS. LILLY'S BILL

Authorizes Comptroller to Hear Recalculation Tax Pica.

By Telegraph to The Freeman. Albany, March 13.—(Special.)—The assembly has passed the bill introduced by Mrs. Lilly, the Democratic female member of the legislature, authorizing the comptroller of the state to hear the application of Sarah M. Bullin for the redemption from the tax sale made by him in 1914, of her property. The bill in question consists of one and one-quarter pages in the town of Rockland, Ulster county.

Lash in a Bath Tub.

An unusual sight was witnessed on an up-town street, Wednesday, when a peddler drove through selling fish. He was driving an old Ford truck and it contained a large bath tub filled with water in which fish of all kinds were swimming. He sold the fish also so that there was no question about a customer securing fresh fish.

CHIEF WOOD TALKS ON POLICE SYSTEM

About Sixty High School Boys Learn How Kingston Is Protected, and of Duties of Police Department.
Wednesday afternoon about sixty of the high school boys accompanied by Professor Robert J. Service visited the police department at the city hall where they listened to an interesting address on the police department and the work of the system in Kingston by Chief of Police J. Allan Wood. At the close of the talk which was illustrated by the demonstration of the police signal system and the finger print system the boys knew more about how Kingston was protected than ever before.
Chief Wood outlined the history of the department from its inception to the present time. A demonstration of how the police signal worked was given by calling up the men on the various posts. The police docket in which those arrested are listed was shown the boys, and also methods used by the police in working for the protection of the city. The various posts in the city were explained, the number of men in the department and other police detail work.
Chief Wood brought his interesting talk and demonstration to a close with the finger print system and its workings.
Kingston has one of the best police forces in the state. The entire force is made up of manly men who are held in high esteem by the residents of the city. They perform their work faithfully and well, and the city should be proud of the record of efficiency the men have attained to under the direction of Chief of Police Wood.

ROSENDALE.

Rosendale, March 12.—The members of the knitting and hospital garment unit of the Rosendale Red Cross Auxiliary held a special meeting on Friday last at the home of Mrs. C. V. Hasbrouck, chairman. The meeting opened by singing "My Country 'Tis of Thee," by all present. Mrs. Simmons offered a prayer for past mercies and furtherance in the good work, which is needed more than ever. Reports were rendered of work so cheerfully accomplished by the members, which has been forwarded to the Ulster County Chapter in Kingston. All who possibly can have been asked to assist in refugee work for the auxiliary. Plans were formulated for a community meeting to prepare for the reception of our brave young warriors of this village, who responded to the call of their native land and the dear old Stars and Stripes. The following beautiful poem, composed by Mrs. Simmons, wife of Rev. J. R. Simmons, pastor of the Baptist Church, was sung to Barnaby's tune of "Mental."

Peace.

I.
Now the war is over
Peace is drawing nigh,
Shouts and hymns of victory,
Rise unto the sky.
II.
Father, may our soldiers,
Safely guarded be,
While their ships are tossing
O'er the wintry sea.
III.
Bring them to the homeland,
Children watching eyes
Comer those whose loved ones
Dwell beyond the skies.
IV.
Heel the sick and wounded,
Give the weary rest,
With tender watch, care,
May they all be blest.
MRS. J. R. SIMMONS.
The afternoon was spent in plans for continuation of work, singing and music, after which 5 o'clock tea was served and the members departed for their homes feeling they had spent several profitable hours at the meeting.

HIGH WOODS.

High Woods, March 12.—Francis Van Aken, formerly of this place, but residing for some years in Yonkers, died of pneumonia at his home there last week. He leaves a wife and several children and grandchildren, one brother and three sisters.

Frank Carle of Jersey City spent a few days with relatives here last week.

Rev. C. W. Snyder, who is employed at Wilbur, spent Sunday at home with his family.

The Ladies' Aid Society went to Saugerties last Saturday and surprised the oldest member belonging to it, Aunt Polly Short, on her eightieth birthday. Twenty-three members went from here and two other members living in Saugerties, and they all had a very happy time. All report a good time. May Aunt Polly see her old neighbors here.

Mrs. S. E. Felten spent one day at home with her niece, Mrs. Arthur Lamb at the Benedictine Sanatorium.

We are glad to know that our former pastor, Rev. G. W. Giddick, who was dismissed in 1911 with a broken heart, is on a fair way to recovery.
Ladies' Aid society will meet at usual time Tuesday in church hall. The Ladies' Aid society was administered in our church last Sunday. An offering was made March 10th to support our Sunday school which has been closed since the end of last year.
Mr. and Mrs. Roy Longmire were in Greater New York the first part of this week.

So They Couldn't Get Away.

DON'T DREAM WHILE SLEEPING HIGH UP

Peter Oliver Forgot and Fell Out of the Upper Berth in the City Hall Lockup—Went to Hospital as a Result.
There are dreams and dreams and it is sometimes very pleasant to dream, but then again one should be careful and not be sleeping in an upper berth for it sometimes leads to injury. Peter Oliver, a negro about 40 years old, applied at police headquarters Wednesday night for permission to sleep in the police lockup which is equipped with upper and lower tiers of berths. Peter occupied an upper tier. Some time during the night there was a crash. It was Peter. He had rolled out of his berth and fell to the ground below, striking against a bench and injuring his breast. Peter, when questioned, said he was dreaming and must have turned over in his sleep. This morning he was examined at the Kingston City Hospital and it was found that no bones had been broken, but that Peter was quite badly bruised up by his fall.

COTTEKILL.

Cottekill, March 13.—J. A. Keator has sold his Ford to Elmer Vandemark.
Charles Rider, who has been doing some repairs to his house, has again returned to his home at Bridgeport. A number from Kingston motored to this village last Friday and partook of the pork supper which was served in the Methodist Church.
Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Nibergall Poughkeepsie were in this village on Sunday.
M. E. Eccleston of Port Jervis was in this village on Tuesday.
Miss Tressa Nichols is confined to the house with a slight attack of the grip.
Mrs. Johnson spent Tuesday at Kingston.
Lewis Blyou is confined to his bed with illness, being attended by Dr. Sherman.
The large motor truck of the Standard Oil Co. made its weekly trip to this village and filled A. J. Keator's kerosene tank, which Mr. Keator advises can again sell at 15 cents per gallon, or 14 cents per gallon in five or more gallon lots.
Mrs. Fred Gillespie spent Tuesday at Kingston.
Andrew Pine has moved from the farm of Thomas Snyder in the Still house. The farm is still unoccupied. The stock is being cared for by Christopher Snyder.
J. A. Keator, who has been confined to his bed with an attack of the grip, is able to be around, visiting Kingston Tuesday.
Mrs. John Shaefer spent Tuesday at Kingston.

Stone Ridge Supper.

Remember that there is to be a supper at 6 p. m. in the lecture room of the Methodist Church on St. Patrick's day, Monday, March 17. All come. There should be at least a touch of green to every costume. Green couples will be very welcome. That the Methodist ladies are far from being green cooks all will heartily concede, and they will endeavor to measure to their usual high standard in making and serving Irish stew, cream lima beans, salads, jellies and puddings, as well as other things not mentioned in this list. Price of supper, 40 cents, except for small children, which will be 25 cents. After supper there will be a free entertainment, consisting in part, at least, of Irish songs and recitations. Come and have a good laugh.

Newkirk Will Speak.

The members of the Men's Bible Class and the men of the Fair Street Reformed Church are in store for a real treat at their regular meeting to be held in the Sunday school room of the church on Friday evening when William G. Newkirk will give a talk on his experiences on the battlefields of France. Private Newkirk recently was discharged from service after having been severely wounded at the Tours front last summer. Every member and men of the church should avail himself of the opportunity of hearing the exciting tales from the lips of one who has fought and seen the horrors of war as it affects the doughboys. Newkirk is a member of the class and church and an informal welcome will be extended and every man should have a part in it.

Marlborough Bankrupt Petition.

An involuntary petition in bankruptcy against the New York Blackstone Company, Marlborough, N. Y., was filed in United States District Court in New York, Wednesday by one creditor, the John B. Rose Company, which claims $6,722.
Hughes, Rounds, Selburn & Dwight, 24 Broadway, New York, are the attorneys. Judge John C. Knox appointed Abner B. Hupel, receiver, with a $1,000 bond. The New York Blackstone Company laid the pavement on the block of land between Fair street and Clinton avenue about two years ago and it seems to have given excellent satisfaction.

SHARP REDUCTIONS IN YOUR SHOE BILLS

"A constant 'hiker' over all conditions of roads, my shoes were hard on my feet until I discovered Neolin Soles. And as for wear! Neolin Soles give twice the service of soles I formerly used," writes H. Noyes Collinson, Hazelton, Pa.
This long service means sharp reductions in those big shoe bills, for it is because of worn out soles that most shoes are discarded. Buy Neolin-soled shoes, not only for yourself, but for the whole family, children included. Also, take your old shoes to the repairman and have them re-bottomed with Neolin Soles.
Remember—Neolin Soles are waterproof, as well as comfortable and long-wearing. They are created by Science to be all that soles should be, and are made by The Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co., Akron, Ohio, who also make Wingfoot Heels—guaranteed to outwear all other heels.

BIDDLE BIRDSALL'S FRIEND.

"A good long time ago," said Daddy, "I told you the story of Biddle Birdsall. He was a cat, as you may remember, and he belonged to a little girl named Gertrude who had called him Biddle when she was very young and could not say Kitty."

"Now Biddle Birdsall has grown older, and so has Gertrude, and while Biddle Birdsall still lives in the same house, Gertrude has to be away almost all of the time at a boarding school in the winter and at a summer camp in the summer."

"But since the time I told you the story of Biddle and Gertrude, a little cousin has come to live near the house where Biddle is."

"Strangely enough her name is Kitty. And Kitty, the little girl, and Biddle the big Kitty-cat, are great, great friends."

"Kitty loved Biddle the moment she saw him. She loved his soft gray fur, his funny green eyes, and she loved to hear the tinkle of the little bells which jingled from his collar. These bells were to let the birds know that Biddle was coming, so they could get away in time, for cats move so softly when they are about to prey on little birds."

"Oh, Kitty, I'm Glad You've Come."

hear the tinkle of the little bells which jingled from his collar. These bells were to let the birds know that Biddle was coming, so they could get away in time, for cats move so softly when they are about to prey on little birds.

"Kitty always called to Biddle when she went to her aunt's home, where Biddle lived; but one day she thought she would walk in very quietly."

What do you think happened? Biddle knew her footsteps. He knew his friend Kitty from all the other children who came to the house where he lived, and many children would come to play there where there were all sorts of wonderful things for children.

"Yes, Biddle knew Kitty's footsteps from all the others, and he arose from his comfy couch, gave a little, funny sound, something between a tiny squeal and a purr and rushed out to meet Kitty."

"It was his little welcoming song to Kitty, and it was as though he had said: 'Oh, Kitty, I am so glad you've come. I love to sleep. I love to rest. I love to do nothing but lie near the fire in the winter, and in the sun in the spring and autumn, and in the shade when it is too broiling hot in the summer.'"

"I love to eat and I love to drink milk. I care for comforts and a fine home and fine food and fine cushions."

"But I like you better than any of these things, Kitty, and so I always get up to greet you. You don't see me doing that to anyone else, do you Kitty?"

"Of course Kitty was delighted when Biddle got up to greet her every single time she went to her aunt's house. And he never made a mistake. Never, not once, did he get up and make a mistake and give that little, curious sound of greeting to anyone except Kitty. He could hear his step when he was away inside the house and couldn't see her at all."

"And when she didn't come up to the house in quite a good long time he would purr to be let outside, and would get very close to the door and let everyone know just what he wanted."

"Then he would hurry down to Kitty's house and sit on her doorstep, waiting until she would come out."

"She would fondle him and pet him. He would follow her when she played and when she walked. When she was reading a story book he would sit quite near her and go to sleep on her knee quite quiet, taking little naps, but blinking from time to time to see if Kitty was still interested in her book."

"I don't care to read at all," Biddle thought, "but I do care about Kitty, and if she comes to read silly words, I am happy as long as I am by her."

"So, thought," continued Daddy, "I am telling you another chapter in the life of Biddle Birdsall. Perhaps some future time I will tell you still another."

Climb!

YOU'RE standing today on the first rung of a ladder of "Opportunity." You're standing there with both feet. You know it—and you know that it will hold all the weight you can put on it.

But one rung doesn't make a ladder. You've got to have others if you want to climb.

Shape them to fit your ladder and—drive them in!

No material? Where's your vision, Man?—it's lying all about you.

Make your next rung "Thrifty" and—climb!

Don't look down; look up! Shape and place the next rung "Sensible Spending"—and the next, "Sensible Saving"—and Keep on shaping them—keep on building—buy War Savings Stamps and—climb, climb, climb!

er. But I think we ought to call this chapter by this name, 'Biddle Birdsall's Friend.'"

"That would be a good name for it," said Nick.

"Indeed it would," agreed Nancy.

"To think Biddle always knew her step," said Nick. "That seems wonderful to me."

"And to think how he greeted Kitty," added Nancy.

"Yes," said Daddy, "and only for Kitty will Biddle ever make that little sound of something which to him means:—"

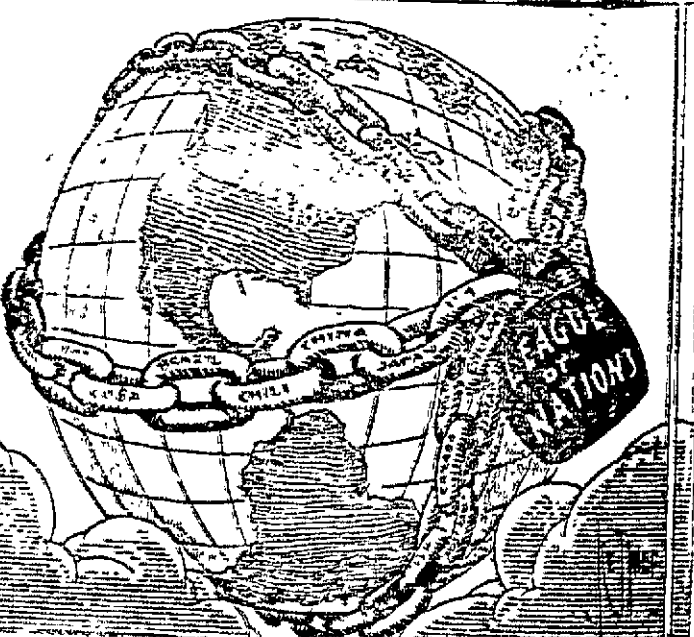

"I am so glad to see you, Kitty."

PARADE PLANS WELL UNDER WAY

Committees Working Hard for Great
Welcome to Soldiers—To Erect Victory Arch—Line of March.

The plans for the home coming of the 27th Division and the big demonstration that will be given Ulster county sons some time in April are now well under way, the only thing now undone as far as preparation being the announcement of the exact date of the celebration. The executive and parade committees met last night in the armory and arrived at definite plans for the success of the welcome.

Every detail of the extensive plans are not for publication at this time but they will be announced as soon as they are made complete. A place is to be reserved along the line of march for the relatives and friends of the men in the parade and those desiring these reservations should send their names to City Clerk Doremus at an early date. Relatives of the men who have not been discharged from service as yet should communicate with them and urge them to use every possible means for securing a furlough at that time so they may participate in the parade.

Floral Memorial in Parade.

The committee plans to have a floral memorial for those who have lost their lives in the service and this is to be carried in the parade. Each soldier will be presented with a bronze badge from the city, and those from the county will receive one from the county. These have been purchased from a Newark concern and will be inscribed with the city and county seals respectively.

The committee on decorations was authorized to secure 2,000 flags on which will be inscribed "Welcome Home, Ulster County Boys." Architect Gerard W. Betz has drawn plans for an arch to be of stone to be known as the Liberty Arch and to be erected across Broadway from the high school lot to the city hall lot. A turkey banquet and entertainment will be given at the armory after the parade under the auspices of Company M, and in the evening there will be a dance at the armory, soldiers in uniform being entitled to admittance and each soldier being allowed to bring a partner.

Line of March.

The line of march will be as follows, as laid out by Captain Everett Fowler: Rhinebeck ferry to Broadway, to Albany avenue, to Clinton street, to North Front street, to Wall street, to Maiden Lane, to Broadway, to state armory, where the parade will disband.

Returned soldiers will be given the left of line, the Grand Army of the Republic to have the right of line. The Benedictine Sanitarium and Kingston City Hospital nurses, the Red Cross nurses and the Spanish War Veterans will precede the soldiers and G. A. R. in the division.

D. G. Atkins has been selected as grand marshal, and the following have been appointed to assist him: Rodney A. Chapp, marshal of fire department division.

Cornelius Hume, marshal of business men's division.

Jacob Rice, marshal of industrial division.

John E. Mahar, marshal of fraternal division.

Prof C. T. Lewis, marshal of school children's division.

Robert R. Rodie, marshal of returned soldiers' division.

World's Greatest Cataract.

What is set down as the greatest cataract in the world is on the Igazu river, which partly separates Brazil and Argentina. The precipice over which the river plunges is 210 feet high, that of Niagara being 167 feet. The cataract is 13,123 feet wide, or about two and a half times as wide as Niagara. It is estimated that 100,000,000 tons of water pass over Niagara in an hour. A like estimate gives the falls of Igazu 140,000,000 tons.

NEW AUTOMOBILE FUEL IS WANTED

Something Must Be Found Within the Next Twenty Years to Supplant Gasoline.

SUPPLY NEARLY EXHAUSTED

Germany Has Demonstrated Possibility of Driving Motor Vehicles With Benzole—New Carburetor Must Be Devised.

At the present rate of consumption the motor car demand for gasoline can hardly be supplied for another 20 years.

When we think of power we are apt to think of steam engines and of coal shoveled by grimy stokers into fiery furnaces. Few realize that our gasoline engines, those that are used on the farm and on the water as well as on the road, generate more than twice the power of all our steam plants. Our pleasure cars alone drive us through the country at a staggering total expenditure of 85,000,000 horse power. If all the gasoline engines in the country were to run every day for only ten hours a day, our gasoline supply would be exhausted in a month.

Germany Uses Benzole.

It is abundantly evident that within the next decade a new fuel must be found for the motor car. Germany has demonstrated the possibility of driving motor vehicles with benzole, a by-product obtained in the manufacture of coke. But since benzole is not produced in sufficiently large quantities and since, moreover, it is required in the manufacture of explosives, dyes and chemicals, it is not likely to take the place of gasoline.

Kerosene must drive the motor car of tomorrow. Unfortunately, it does not vaporize so readily as gasoline. Nor can it be efficiently utilized for road locomotion in engines that now consume gasoline. New feeding devices must be invented; a new, simple type of carburetor must be devised; a new kind of engine must be created. All this motor car manufacturers have foreseen. For many months their research engineers have been at work. When the price of gasoline reaches 60 cents or more a gallon the kerosene motor car will appear.

Crude Oil Dwindling.

Since the crude oil supply of the world is steadily dwindling, the invention of a satisfactory kerosene engine must inevitably prove but a makeshift which will tide us over for a decade or two. What then? Either the alcohol engine or the electric storage battery will be intensively developed for mechanical propulsion.

SMALL BOY STEALS A HITCH

Youngsters May Be Kept Off Spare Tire Holder by Use of Strip of Spiked Metal.

The cry of our childhood, "whip behind!" is out of date, but the need for a substitute is very much here. Boys have a trick of stealing rides on the spare tire holder, when it is in the rear of the car; this is bad for the tire holder, and it may be much worse for the boy if he happens to fall off at the wrong time. A strip of spiked metal material, such as frequently adorns park railings and similar places, may make the tire holder too uncomfortable a seat even for the ambitious small boy intent on stealing a hitch.

Plucky.

Soldiers as a rule are plucky fellows when wounded. This story is told of one:

He came in on a stretcher—face all bruised and swollen, eyes protruding, all full of mud and bits of stone. There wasn't an inch of his body without its own bruise or cut.

He'd been standing in a muddy place and a big obus had plumped into the ground just in front of him, and then, from a couple of feet down, had gone off and up. As he opened his eyes the doctor said to him: "You must have had a pretty rough passage."

He replied, "Nothing in it, sir—nothing in it. I'll be all right after I've had a shave."

SOCIETY NOTES.

Mrs. Henry Fox of 30 Ponckhookle street was given a surprise party in honor of her birthday at the home of her sister, Mrs. C. Bouchard, 180 Delaware avenue, where a few friends were present, all having a good time. Refreshments were served.

Atharhacton Club.

The Atharhacton Club met on Wednesday afternoon with Miss Edith Scott on Hasbrouck avenue. Miss Scott had the paper for the day, an interesting subject, "Alphonse Daudet," interestingly presented. The next meeting of the club will be with Miss Herbert at her home on Washington avenue.

Minard-Burger.

Howard W. Minard and Leila M. Burger, both of New Paltz, were united in marriage at the Methodist parsonage in Modena on March 11. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. W. H. McPherson, pastor of the Modena and Chantondale Methodist Churches.

Garden Club Meeting.

The Ulster Garden Club held its regular meeting this week at the home of Mrs. DeWitt Roosa on Fair street, Mrs. Howard Osterhout, one of the honorary members of the club being the hostess for the afternoon. During the business session, it was decided that the club should continue its work of looking after school children's gardens in this city the coming year. A most profitable and educational piece of work in which this club has been so successful. The speaker for the afternoon was George Salford, president of the Horticulture Society of Dutchess county and a resident of Poughkeepsie. Mr. Salford's subject was "The How and Why of Pruning and Spring Work in the Garden." The talk while instructive and practical was at the same time very interesting and was followed by many questions put by the members of the club. He was very helpful in giving the members requested formulae for the destruction of insect pests, etc., and for the scientific treatment of the soil, looking to its enrichments. The entire meeting was particularly interesting. The next meeting of the club will be with Mrs. F. J. Higginson and Mrs. DeWitt Roosa, at Mrs. Roosa's home on Fair street.

No Lazy Man's Place.

If you saw the bird of paradise, and then listened to some folk talk you may be under the impression Hawaii is a land where Americans go and just naturally forget to work. He down beneath a shady, spreading tree and listened to the thrum of the Hawaiian guitars until they're lulled into a sleep from which they seldom are aroused. "That stuff," said S. S. Parsons of Honolulu, "is all right, but it's for story books and comic operas! I went to Honolulu 13 years ago from Philadelphia, became president of the Rotary club, a member of the legislature and head of the largest automobile concern in Honolulu. When I came back to the United States I don't find any of my old companions are staying up any later at night than I do or travel any faster than I do. Don't let any one get that 'go-to-sleep-and-never-wake-up' idea into your head. Hawaii isn't a lazy man's country, by any means."

The Stream of Prisoners.

Robert W. Chambers was reading at the Century club about the capture of Lillie when a pacifist interrupted him.

"We don't want to destroy Germany utterly, you know," the pacifist said. "We'll have peace soon and then all this bitterness will be forgotten. I've just been reading an interview with the German crown prince. He seems a pleasant-spoken chap. Expects to come over here to shoot grizzlies after it's all over. Says he's got a lot of friends in the countries of the allies."

"He has, too," said Mr. Chambers, with a grim smile. "Why, his friends are pouring in on us now at the rate of about 40,000 a week."

Recipe for Happiness.

The gospel of happiness is one which every one should lay to heart. Set out with the invincible determination that you will bear burdens and not impose them. Whether the sun shines or the rain falls, show a glad face to your neighbor. If you must fall in life's battle, you can at least fall with a smile on your face.—Well-Spring.

KINGSTON, N. Y., MAR. 13, 1919.

We have in this country 8,592,000 persons unable to speak English or otherwise illiterate, but our troubles are due less to those persons themselves than to the slick rascals who lead them by the nose.

The whole western hemisphere is coming forward. The "small" nations of South America have overwhelmingly outvoted the "small" nations of Europe at the Peace Conference, capturing all of the five places allotted to the smaller Powers on the important Financial Commission and three of the five places on the Economic Commission.

It is characteristic of a Roosevelt not to be afraid to speak out. On arriving in this country from France the other day, when asked what our soldiers abroad thought about the prohibition amendment, Lieut. Col. Roosevelt said: "They consider that an advantage—an unfair advantage—was taken of them while they were fighting for their country and that they should have had a voice in the matter."

A COURTESY CAMPAIGN.

The six months' courtesy campaign undertaken in Springfield, Mass., through the initiative of the chamber of commerce is, according to the Republican of that city, "a challenge to exhibit daily examples of our good breeding." The Republican says the campaign should be taken seriously because "there is more truth than humor in the poster which reminds us that it costs nothing to be polite," adding: "All that is needed is a little effort to be thoughtful of others. With some the effort may be unusual, but the feeling of self-consciousness will vanish with the formation of the habit." The editor concludes with the promise that success in the effort will give Springfield "an enviable and unique reputation."

The self-absorbed may smile in decision, but it remains true that such worthy effort is needed widely, for there are few urban populations whose manners could not be improved. It is impossible to legislate good manners into the public, let alone morals as some reformers seem to believe, but if representative citizens will voluntarily and persistently cultivate courtesy in all relations the example would be followed widely enough to give a city distinction among its neighbors, with even commercial gains to follow. Travelers have noticed a difference in this particular between American towns and sections where they have found a more or less courteous people. As a rule good manners in public are lacking in proportion to a town's bigness and the volume of its hurrying business, but there is no good reason why courtesy should be snuffed out by hurry and preoccupation.

THE MILLS AND THE COTTON.

It was predicted years ago that eventually the mills would "come to the cotton," and this well founded expectation was one of the bows of promise in the clouds that helped the South through the long uphill development of its industries that followed its unsuccessful war for "self determination" and political independence. It was foreseen that cotton goods could be manufactured more cheaply in the near neighborhood of the cotton fields than in far New England and gradually achievement followed. The mills are now rapidly going to the cotton, as appears from figures recently published showing that the growth of the textile industry in the South since 1899 as compared with the rate of growth in Massachusetts. The number of spindles operated in Massachusetts in 1899 was 7,754,658 against 11,312,814 in 1915. In the South the number of spindles was but 3,721,653 in 1899, but in 1915 the number had risen to 12,083,072. Massachusetts increasing 45 per cent and the South 254 per cent.

The Springfield Republican takes a philosophical view of this transfer of a great industry now so rapidly in progress. "While these mills are constructed in the South," it says, "they represent a considerable investment of northern capital. There is from the stockholders' point of view, less a sectional conflict of interest than a conflict between competing mills." That is the best and our great responsibility.

way to look at it, for nature itself is on the side of the South in this matter, and the time must come when it will be practically impossible for mills a thousand miles away to compete successfully with mills in the midst of the cotton fields.

LITTLE LAUGHS.

"A queer thing is on the cards in Europe." "What is that?" "The duce is taking all the kings."—Baltimore American.

"Why is Wombat bustling so strenuously? I thought he retired with enough to live on." "It looked like enough to live on—ten years ago."—Judge.

"What does she say?" "Says her face is her fortune." "Now I understand what they mean by involuntary bankruptcy."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

"A seat on the New York Stock Exchange costs upwards of $60,000." "Men are a mystery to me." "How now?" "Look at them. Spend all that money for a seat, and some of them stand, while others run around in circles."—Boston Transcript.

"What did you do while politics was adjourned?" "According to my way of looking at it," replied Senator Sorghum, "politics never adjourns. When politics gets so fierce as to get into a light, the argument necessarily ceases. But old politics is always somewhere around."—Washington Star.

Their Weak Spot.

Dr. Alexis Carrel, the famous Franco-American surgeon, was talking in Paris about the outrageous aerial bombardment of his hospital at the hands of the Hun. "After the first bombardment," he said, "I covered all my buildings with enormous red crosses brilliantly lighted. In consequence the Hun bombarded us worse than ever. A journalist has suggested a new device to me—a camouflage device that sounds very plausible. The journalist says that the one way to make hospitals safe from the Hun is to camouflage them as breweries."—Exchange.

A Warning.

Judge Hilary Greene of Boston, discussing a recent divorce, said: "It's a bad thing for a poor man to wed a rich wife. The rich wife always wears the breeches. If she can't wear the breeches, divorce follows, as in our friend's case."

"A bank clerk, now divorced, once said to me: 'I've just resigned my job. I'm going to marry a girl with an independent income.'"

"My boy," I warned him, "it may well turn out that you are going to marry an income with an independent girl."

Next War.

It was the year 2000 and the next war, which was to end all wars, was raging. The regiment of five, stalwart women were going to attack a strong position, and their officer was doing his utmost to encourage them. "Women," she cried, "Never let it be said of you that you showed the white feather—at a time when feathers are not being worn."

"We will die first," said the regiment with one voice, and advanced against the foe.—London Answers.

Bolshevik Dust.

A senator was talking at the Philadelphia Club about a very bustling new commission and its sensational reports.

"Well, at any rate," he said, "the commission works hard."

He smiled and added: "A new broom sweeps clean, but sometimes it throws dust in our eyes."—Exchange.

GRANITE.

Granite, March 12.—Alfred Altman and George Talbot of Brooklyn were the guests of Hebron Sheldon Friday.

Ralph Markle has moved from this place to Accord.

Miss Jennie Sheldon is spending the week end at Roscoe Sullivan county.

Mrs. James Mack and son, Rowland of Munawassa called on Mrs. Increase Green Monday afternoon.

Mrs. Mary Turner was the guest of her uncle, Benjamin Bush, of Eddyville the past week.

Mrs. Irene Schoenmaker is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Oscar Codrington, of Accord.

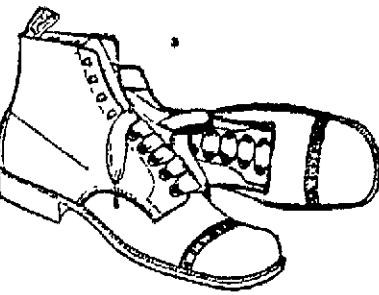

Our many friends were sorry to hear of the sad accident of William Addis, Sr. While visiting his son, Elliott, in Poughkeepsie, Mr. Addis fell and dislocated his shoulder and cut a severe laceration in his head. He was taken to the hospital for treatment and is doing nicely at present.

Miss Beila Slater was the guest of her friend, Miss Bertha Christian, of Pataaskunk, last week.

A most enjoyable party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Sheldon Thursday evening, March 6. The affair was arranged as a surprise to Mr. Sheldon. A large number were present. There were fine selections of music given from the violin, piano and victrola and games were also played. A fine lunch was served at 12:30. The evening was enjoyed by all present, and the guests departed at a late hour for their homes.

Mrs. Almina Simpson, who was stricken with paralysis some time ago, fell and broke her hip. We expect her recovery to be complete.

WHAT THE "FONDDU LAC" WILL ACCOMPLISH.

It will do what five horses will do it better—do it faster—will work continuously—needs no rest—feeds only when it works—requires one-half the value of feed—it will pull plows, lists, graders, scrapers. Will pull two 12 or 14-inch moldboard plows 2 to 2 1/2 miles per hour, plowing 5 to 7 acres per day of ten hours, where five horses can pull the same plows. Will disc 20 to 25 acres per day. Will harrow 40 to 50 acres per day. Will cut 20 to 25 acres of grass per day, using two mowers. Will harvest 15 to 20 acres of grain per day. Will pull a wagon loaded up to 6,000 pounds on an ordinary road. Will seed 30 to 35 acres per day. Will roll 40 acres per day. Will pull more than one of many machines or implements.

"It Goes Where None Dare Follow." Will pull several wagons, mowers, and other implements in train. Will pay for itself and a new Ford in two years. Will pull any implement or machinery with all the speed the implement can stand, regulating the speed by the use of the varying sized gears, which can always be furnished when desired.

Performance Guarantee

We positively guarantee that the combination of the FONDDU LAC and a Ford in good condition will start and run continuously on high gear, developing power equal to five good horses. LIFE OF FORD equipped in this manner will be at least as long as when used for pleasure, as the load on the motor and transmission gears is not increased. The engine does the pulling on high gear. The pull comes on the new axle, wheels and draw bar, which are amply heavy to withstand it.

The Central Garage is in attendance at the show to fully explain and feature their respective models. The new Scripps-Booth production that has been attracting attention around the streets is on display in three models including the roadster, touring and sedan. Each of these cars is equipped with the famous Northway motor and claimed to register 60 miles an hour on the speedometer and do 8,000 miles on a set of tires. The National "G" and Reo touring cars are also placed in the artistic display of the Central Garage. The two features of the Kennedy's exhibit are the dependable International trucks and tractors. The trucks are constructed in three-quarter ton, one ton, one and a half tons and two tons each and furnish every tonnage required by the business man of today. The tractor is attracting much attention from the agricultural man.

Full Line of Oaklands.

A full line of models in the Oakland car is being featured by the Stryker & Youmans Company and they are distinguished for their beauty of body design and equipment. For selection there are display coupe, sedan, touring and roadster models of this popular car. The Chandler "G" and the Standard "S" complete the display of Stryker & Youmans in touring cars of latest design.

Cadillacs and Hup's.

The olive green-colored Cadillac "8" on exhibit by Abram Molyneux of the Ulster Garage is a keen eye-atcher for beauty of appearance. The olive green mass that forms the body color is appropriately striped in white furnishing a quality of color tone seldom found in one car. Aside from this attractive touring model of the Cadillac Mr. Molyneux also has a touring car of the same make tinted in a delicate blue. Cadillacs are so well known that this display proves magnetic to admirers of quality cars. It is with regrets that Mr. Molyneux stated he was unable to get the intended models including a "Victoria" and a "Hupmobile" for the show but the Cadillac market is swamped for cars due to the demand this year.

Every car on display at this space one of the finest appearing "Hup" models ever demonstrated in this city. Sam Affron and Abram Molyneux together have placed for the completeness of their exhibit the new designed Hupmobile in roadster and touring models. This car is noticeable for its richness of appearance and improvement of the last year body designs.

One Of Largest Exhibitors
Peter A. Black of the Eagle Race and distributor for the new 6-cylinder Hudson, Cole, Buick and Moore tractors is one of the largest exhibitors at the show. The green race model of four cylinder motor with balanced crank shaft introduces a new light weight moderate priced high quality car that has been expected for almost two years. It is praised for its beauty, elegance and economic value and admired for its proper response to the wants of the fast driver. It appeals to the taste for all of its qualities and meets the demands of the most critical buyer. Mr. Black invites an inspection and demonstration of this wonder car. The looked for white triangular distinguishing mark of the Hudson 6-cylinder is to be found in one of the four passenger speedsters.

Thinks Many Will Fly.

The principal of one of the chief American schools for airplane mechanics thinks that flying is going to be the next great American amusement. He reminds us that our aviation corps has contained a great many young men of large wealth who have shown themselves good sportsmen. They can afford to buy and maintain their own machines and, having become accustomed to a speed of a hundred and fifty miles an hour, will find the ordinary modes of travel tame.—Youth's Companion.

Brady Defends Movies.

This created something of a scene itself when W. W. Brady, much excited, rushed forth to the defense of the movies by declaring that the motion picture producers are willing to have a motion picture censorship law passed that will allow no play put on the screen that will cause any mother, wife or daughter to blush. This reminds us of the "death bed repentance" of the liquor business. Evidently Mr. Brady forgot (let us charitably assume) that his whole crowd fought like demons three years ago the censorship bill which our Civic League fought through the legislature only to have it vetoed by Governor Whitman.

Many Upholders of Sabbath.

It was noticeable in the hearing that the defense of the Sabbath was made by many organizations and churches, both Protestant and Roman Catholic. One of the strongest and bitterest speeches of the day day against Sunday movies was that of Rev. Joseph A. Brunner, director of the parochial schools in the Roman Catholic diocese of Albany. Among other things he said:

"These motion picture men talk of rights, but they forget that rights mean duties, and duties rights. No decent citizen has a right to spoil childhood, vulgarize youth and stultify manhood and womanhood. They pride about the service of the public, but let me say they don't serve man when they fail to serve the Creator of man. In the stupidity of their age, they will invade the Sabbath, take religion away and morally debase the people of the country. The spirit of the country, the spirit of the people and the spirit of the people are all being destroyed and the interests of the people are being sacrificed to the interests of the people of the day."

Improved Propellers.

A new propeller for motor water aeroplanes has been developed in the laboratory of the U. S. Navy. It is a simple and efficient design, and is being tested in the U. S. Navy's experimental tank at Annapolis, Md. It is expected that it will be put into service in the near future.

HEARING ON SUNDAY MOTION PICTURES

At Albany Wednesday Attended By Kingstonian—Able Speakers For Both Sides—Senator Walton Presided.

Editor of The Freeman:

It was my privilege to be present yesterday at Albany at the public hearing at the legislature on the bill to legalize Sunday "motion picture exhibitions." It was a memorable occasion in the present legislature. Both sides had able speakers. I wish that the citizens of Kingston, particularly those in favor of Sunday movies, could have been present to hear "both sides." Senator Walton presided with his usual courtesy and firmness. He silenced one crank effectively who did not know the proprieties of the occasion.

Those favoring Sunday movies made out the best possible case for their side. They dwelt particularly upon the fact of the great social and industrial unrest among the masses today and the speakers insisted that these people would resent the forbidding of Sunday movies and further the speakers thought Sunday movies would help counteract their restless and bitter spirits. Further, some of the speakers, like Dr. Copeland, superintendent of New York city health department, thought the movies would help keep our returned soldiers and young people from far worse places where their health is seriously menaced.

Defend the Movies in General.

The most notable fact about the speakers on the side of those asking for the Sunday movie bill was that they spoke in defense of the movies in general, rather than in favor of Sunday movies. They grew hoarse shouting the story of the splendid services rendered by the movies during the great war, which everybody recognizes. In short, their argument seemed to be that because the movies had done so much to help various ways to win the war and "make the world safe for democracy" therefore the movie picture trust could demand in return the exploitation for gain and wrecking of our Christian Sabbath. Such was the gist of four-fifths of the arguments of the movie crowd by their ablest defenders, including men like W. W. Brady, Capt. William Harrigan and various lawyers and others. But all of these wonderful patriots and devotees of democracy seemed utterly oblivious of the great fact of modern history, that the Christian Sabbath has been one of the fundamental pillars of democracy and nothing more surely and fatally threatens the security of democracy than striking down this great pillar, the Christian Sabbath.

Opens Way For Sunday Sports.

Another striking fact about the speeches of those in favor of Sunday movies was that not one of them attempted to answer the one great objection to Sunday movies as pointed out by friends of the Sabbath, viz: If our state legalizes one kind of sport or recreation and business (for Sunday movies is a business as well as a recreation) sooner or later the legislature, to be consistent as well as have these laws constitutional, will be obliged, if the demand is made, to legalize all kinds of sports and business, which means practically wiping out our Sabbath from American civilization—in New York state at least. Cannon Wm. S. Chase of Brooklyn, particularly emphasized this point in his speech against Sunday movies.

One more vital objection to Sunday movies was pointed out by the speakers opposed to Sunday movies, viz: That we have no censorship law in this state for moving pictures, as several other states have. Rev. O. R. Miller, superintendent of the Civic League, called attention to the well known fact that a large percentage of the movies today are notoriously vile and in many other ways objectionable—not fit for week days—and certainly not fit for the sacred Christian Sabbath. He quoted the testimony of well known moving picture film manufacturers themselves on this point and some samples of their advertising matter.

British Officers Like American Cooking, King George Finds On Visit To "Y" Hotel

He Gets Assurance His Men Are Not An Annoyance Because They "Happen To Drop In At Mealtime"

If the peoples of different nationalities can be brought together at dining tables, there would be any need of peace treaties, in the opinion of King George V. It has been the King's custom recently to go about meeting American officers and men at the camps and Y.M.C.A. centers in England. On a visit to the Washington Inn, the American officers' retreat in London, he remarked to Stanley Ross Fisher, the Y.M.C.A. man in charge of social activities there:

"You men of the Y.M.C.A. are doing a great work. I understand that a good many English officers frequent this place, especially at meal time. I hope they are not in the way."

"Not at all," replied Fisher. "We like the idea."

"Good," said the King. "So long as American and British officers have their meals under the same table, we needn't worry about international complications."

The King and Queen are more familiar figures to thousands of Americans in England than any President has been. They have visited nearly every big hotel and city in England and Scotland.

ST. REMY.

St. Remy, March 12.—The ladies will serve supper in the Sunday school room next Wednesday evening, March 19, 1919, for the benefit of the church. A good supper will be served for 25 cents. Ice cream will be on sale during the evening. If stormy the first fair evening after. Every one is invited to come and enjoy the evening. As this is some old National songs. Every school children have promised on this evening to sing some new and some old National songs. Every one in attendance will be invited to sing these songs with the children.

Rev. Lemuel Davis was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Ellsworth on Tuesday. Mr. Davis is calling on his friends in the village where he used to live.

John M. Roosa is visiting his friends in this place.

Then and Now.

Said the facetious fellow: "In the olden days when the automobile was designated as 'one lugger' I suppose the chap who owned one had a good deal of trouble with his lug, but now his chief complaint is either gas-tritis or that tired feeling."

DR. HUTCHINS IN CHARGE

Of Physical Reconstruction At Camp
Sheridan.

Dr. C. P. Hutchins, now a captain in the Medical Corps of the army and formerly a prominent physician of this city and Stone Ridge, has been placed at the head of the physical reconstruction department of the base hospital at Camp Sheridan and the work accomplished by this branch of Uncle Sam's treatment to the wounded and shell shocked is proving wonderful toward the mental rehabilitation and physical reconstruction of the men.

There are now 1,400 patients at the Fort Sheridan Hospital, representing every possible type of battle casualty—some with features partly effaced by shrapnel, some with livid scars, some with eyesight wholly or partly gone, some with minds rendered as simple as those of children. They call the department under the supervision of Dr. Hutchins into which the patients are transferred after the physicians and specialists have done all they can for them the physiotherapy department. It is here that the physical reconstruction is completed. Dr. Hutchins has two assistants to help him in this work. He writes that he considers a smile, the lexicon of modern surgery, is 50 per cent of the battle. Electricity also plays an important part at this hospital and even scars are being removed in a miraculous manner.

KERHONKSON.

Kerhonkson, March 12.—On Saturday March 15, at R. Van Etten's store hot soup, sandwiches and coffee will be served 11:30 for balance of the day. Cake, pie, biscuit, salad, baked beans, etc., will be on sale. Any one wishing to take soup home can buy it by the quart. Benefit of the Willing Workers.

Boots Waterproof.

To make boots waterproof mix equal parts of mutton fat, beeswax and sweet oil together in a small pan, heat over stove until melted, then after the mixture has cooled a little apply it to the boots plentifully, particularly about the seams and edge of soles, and that will really render them perfectly waterproof.

Evidence of Failure.

We frequently find men of culture who take pride in their art or their science but who have no feeling for morality or religion and are rather proud of the fact. Is it not rather an evidence that their culture is failing to raise the possibilities of experience to their highest power?—Minneapolis Journal.

Back to the good old U.S.A.

They're coming home erect, full-chested, slender-waisted, springy-gaited, "hard as nails;" a new physical type, different from the men who went away not long ago.

We have new, special models for them; designed by Hart Schaffner & Marx. The makers put lively style in them with all-wool fabrics and best workmanship. They're styles you want, too.

Waist-seam suits

You'll like the waist-seam suits; single and double-breasted; two and three-button; many variations in pockets and other details.

Waist-seam overcoats

The waist-seam idea is popular in the spring overcoats; we've designed some very stylish ones that you ought to see.

Varsity suits

The Varsity suits for spring are for the men who like the plain sacks; but want all the stylish touches; there's an "air" about these suits you'll like.

LEIBHARDT HEIGHTS

Leibhardt Heights, March 12.—Mr. and Mrs. Henry B. DeWitt of this place went to Mettachon on Monday to see Mrs. DeWitt's brother, Jacob Hornbeck, who is ill with the "flu."

Miss Kathryn Hoteling, our teacher, spent the week-end with her parents in Kingston.

Miss Jennie G. DeWitt spent Saturday and Sunday with her friend, Miss Minnie Brown, of this place.

Henry S. DeWitt was in Kerhonkson on Tuesday with a big load of lumber.

Erma and Helen Hornbeck, who were ill with the "flu" the past week, are now better.

Jacob DeWitt spent the week-end with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Monteen Gray, of Palentown.

William Henry Krom was in Kerhonkson on Saturday.

We are all sorry to hear that Jacob Krom hurt his eye very badly and hope it will soon be better.

Hazel Hornbeck was a caller at her cousin's home, Ernest Markle's, Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Eliza C. DeWitt and grandson, Norman, were pleasantly entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Peter DeWitt Saturday afternoon and also for supper.

Van Luhn Quack spent Sunday night with her cousin, Mrs. DeWitt, at this place.

LUCKEY, PLATT & CO.'S

GREAT FIFTY YEAR ANNIVERSARY CELEBRATION

YOU ARE INVITED

To our Fifty Year Jubilee Celebration beginning March 21st. The most important Economy Event in Fifty Years. Thousands of dollars worth of Merchandise to be disposed of on a practical Profit Sharing Basis.

LUCKEY, PLATT & COMPANY Poughkeepsie, N. Y.

The Anniversary Celebration beginning March 21st, will be for our customers the Golden Harvest of our Golden Year—the greatest year of the half century career of this store, and the most important event of the year. We have been telling you that this was the time for celebrating our Golden Year, and that many days would be marked by some special feature of advantage to our customers. This program will be carried out to the letter. Many thousands of dollars which might figure in legitimate profits will be distributed among our patrons through the Great Fifty Year Anniversary Week with the sale opening on March 22nd.

But the pinnacle of the year's activities, the ne plus ultra of economic service in merchandising distribution come on the morning of March 22nd, the month which rounds out this store's full fifty years of service to the public. Our anniversaries of the past ten years have been made memorable by our great January and August Sales—so well known that the mere announcement of their recurrence has brought great throngs from far and near—and our assurance that the FIFTY YEAR ANNIVERSARY SALE WILL BE THE MOST IMPORTANT OF ALL SALES will attract thousands to whom the opportunity to SAVE MONEY has a strong appeal.

Every department manager has definite orders to provide a diversified assortment and large quantities at prices MATERIALLY BELOW THE MARKET VALUE. When such merchandise can be procured in the manufacturing market at a substantial concession in price—and scores of manufacturers have made such concessions—we as well as our customers share the benefit. But in numerous instances we shall have to curtail profits in order to insure the necessary variety and the necessary reduction in price to make this FIFTY YEAR ANNIVERSARY SALE one that will go down in history.

On the evening of March 21st, we will have a large reception, fifteen thousand invitations will be extended. All of our customers, unless by some slip, will receive an invitation. Please remember we bear you in mind, and have probably arranged that you get one. But to insure a ticket of admittance, which everyone must have, we would be glad to have you send your name in at the earliest possible time, requesting an invitation and card. It is not our intention to miss anyone and we trust that you will assist us getting every patron possible.

A ticket must be presented at the door. The reception will take place March 21st, 8 to 10 p. m. Over 275 people will be there to welcome you: we will entertain you with an itinerary through the store, concert music, museum, and various other ways. Send for your invitation today.

Reception March 21st.

Anniversary Sale, March 22 to 29. Thousands of Opportunities for Savings.

You are most cordially invited to attend our annual Spring Style Show, Thursday Friday, March 13-14.

Morning and afternoon expositions, special effects, Scofield's orchestra—forty models.

We Are Fifty Years Old This Year

Golden Jubilee Anniversary Celebration Soon—Service, Fifty Years Ago and Now.

The principal service fifty years ago was the personal service of the sales people. We are told that fifty years ago, people from the surrounding country drove to Poughkeepsie twice a year to do their semi-annual shopping and at that time personal service was the only real service. It was quite customary for sales people to take up three or four bolts of cloth and carry them to some hotel to have the customer make his selection. There were various other small services in those days but the personal service counted the most.

Today, the services are many and varied. Among them you will find in this store a fleet of rapid and efficient delivery cars, 4 elevators, 35 different departments all under one roof, a Transfer Shopping Service, a Post Office on the premises, a free checking counter, a Parcel Post Station, two rest rooms, 2 long distance telephone booths, a mail order and telephone shopper and telephones connected with every department. PONSOLLE BOY BURIED TODAY

Clue Which Might Have Led To Finding Of Lost Woodstock Child Unfortunately Overlooked.

Had either Mr. or Mrs. John Ponsolle told a little circumstance that happened Friday to Sheriff Smith,
Deputy Sheriff Jocelyn or to R. H.
Whitehead or some of the score of willing men who started to search for their missing boy Jean, their two and a half year baby boy might have been found alive. Instead of dead, as he was Wednesday afternoon about 2:45 as he was two miles away from "Byrdcliff," the residence of Mr. Whitehead, near Woodstock, where Mr. and Mrs. Ponsolle were employed.

Friday little Jean had been with his father and brother up to what is known as the Log Road, that leads up a hill from near the residence to Bear Notch, and when the mother gave her boy the apple Saturday about 4:45 o'clock and he said, as he left that he was going to give his brother half of it, little Jean naturally started up the Log Road to find his brother, thinking he would be there as he was the day before. But as the father and the other child were somewhere else they did not see the youngster who toddled up the hill two miles and, exhausted, fell down on the ground where he was found dead lying on his stomach, a short distance from a spring Wednesday afternoon.

Did Not Search Log Road.
Most likely had the father thought of his boy, Jean, being with him up the Log Road the day before and told of it, some of the men would have gone there on a search. Patrick Mc-Daniel of Shady, who was in advance of a party of searchers, found the missing boy, and Sergeant Sheehan of the State Troopers, who was in Woodstock, telephoned to Sheriff
Smith and the latter notified Coroner
Kelly of the finding of the boy dead.
Dr. Downer was placed in charge of the body to make an examination and he did so and pronounced exposure
the cause of death.

The child was carried by Sergeant Sheehan to "Byrdcliff" where the funeral was held today. There were no marks on the child other than the scratches as if he had crawled on the ground after falling down from weakness.

OUR DAILY PATTERN.

A Popular Up-to-Date Model.

2528—This is such a pretty style for toulard, crepe, taffeta, gingham, batiste or voile. It could also serve for serge or gabardine, with vest, cuffs and collar of pique or organdie.
The sash belt is a new feature. The sleeve in wrist length, has fitted cuff.
In short length, the sleeve is loose and flowing.

The pattern is cut in 7 sizes: 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44 and 46 inches bust measure. Size 38 requires 6 yards of 36 inch material. The skirt measures about 2 yards at the foot.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address, on receipt of 10 cents, in silver or stamps by The Freeman Pattern Department, Kingston, N. Y. Be sure to state the size wanted.

IRON COPS WENT ON DUTY TODAY

And it was the 13th Too, and Officer
No. 13 Assigned the Cops to Their Summer Posts—A Sure Sign of Spring.

Today was the thirteenth of March and it was also the day that the iron cops of the police department were assigned to duty at the various street intersections by Chief of Police J. Allan Wood. It might also be noted that Officer No. 13 was the man who placed the iron policemen in the police car and carried them around to the various posts. The placing of the iron cops on duty is one of the sure signs that spring is here and winter but a memory of the past. The iron cops have been repainted and placed in excellent condition during the past winter.

PORT EWEN.

Port Ewen, March 13.—Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Clark, Sr., and family of house of Millard Eckert on Broadway, have moved into the house of Hugh Clark, Sr., on Schryver street.

Mid-week prayer services will be held in the Reformed and Methodist Churches this evening.

Everyone interested in the Epworth League Society of the Methodist Church are urged to keep in mind the date of the "Seven Cent Social" to be held in the chapel Monday evening, March 17, St. Patrick's night.

The Dorcas Society will meet at the home of Mrs. Elsworth Doyle, corner Main and Green streets, Friday evening, March 14.

Mrs. H. Bolash and son, Andrew, have moved from the house of Robert Walker on Pine street to East Kingston.

Mrs. Eliza Shook is ill at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Henry Van Aken, on Railroad avenue.

the church as usual.

Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Fowler have returned from St. Petersburg, Fla.
Albert DeWitt has recovered from influenza.

Corporal Thomas La Polla, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert La Polla, of Milton has returned from France and he expects to be discharged soon. He was a member of the 2nd anti-air craft crew machine gun battalion, Co.
D. He saw service on the Verdun front and was slightly wounded by a piece of shrapnel.

There will be some peaches in this section anyway, especially on young trees. If no set back comes this spring.

The fare of food at the front in France was not very excellent, according to the version of a returned soldier. They had for several days a concoction called the "submarine stew," which consisted of carrots boiled with meat on top. It was stated also that a better grub went to the front line but when this soldier got there with his regiment the fare was no better.

Good fare, decorations, flowers and applause at home, but abroad bullets, shells, gas and submarine stews for the valiant protectors of their country, including others.

PALENTOWN.

summer April 1.

No school in this place on Monday on account of teachers meeting at Ellenville.

Beatrice Gray from Kingston spent Sunday with her parents in this place.

James Shorter has returned home from camp O. K. He looks as though indeed Sun took good care of him while he was in the service.

Those that are ill in this place are getting better. Also Frank Reaves, who had the misfortune to have a wagon wheel run over his toes. The wagon was loaded with logs. He was seen and proprial forms obtained at drawing them to the saw mill when it happened. He is better and is at work again.

Mrs. H. P. Traver and daughter, Mildred, spent last Saturday with her daughter, Mrs. Jesse Shurtler and family in Samsonville.

Mrs. Elten Beesmer spent a few hours with her father and family Saturday night. Later in the evening
she went to visit her daughter, Mrs.
Otis Barringer, to spend a few days with her.

Y. Bush passed through this place
last week.

Mrs. S. Krom has been very sick.
Her friends wish her health.

Y. M. BOYS DRIVE CLOSSES SATURDAY

Enthusiasm Among Workers at Wednesday's Supper Augurs Well for Success of Membership Campaign. If you are old enough, Mr. Kingstonian to have a boy already in the Y. M. C. A. or old enough to become a member of our live "Y" organization, you are old enough to have taken part in several successful drives yourself. If your particular team went well over the top, especially during the last drives of the year, you felt pretty good about it and that boy of yours was mighty proud of the way "dad's" team did go. Sounds easy, don't it? Now stop and think a minute. Do you remember the very first "drive" or campaign waged in the city? (Could you or any group of men then have accomplished what you did the past year, even with the war incentive back of you? You know right well you could not, for you and all the other men were too green at the job. Here's another angle. You must be about 29 years old, maybe older, so that you have had some fifteen or twenty years more experience of going out into the world and getting what you go after than has your boy. You know how other people feel and think, and how to meet and change their thoughts to agree with yours as the result of that experience. Just think that over.

Boys' End of The Drive. Now for the boys' end of this job of getting 200 other boys to join the Y. M. C. A. and that before Saturday night. It is the very first drive for every one of those bright, wide-awake ninety-six lads who want to turn the trick but are so new at it. In fact they are pretty new at just living. And here they are facing the task of going to a bunch of boys and coaxing them to join the "Y," who are not themselves very keen about it, for if they were they would have joined before. Or else their mothers and fathers are not in favor of their joining and they have to be persuaded. Now it takes a lot more persuasion to get a fellow's father and mother to let him join the Y. M. C. A. at $2 a year than it does to get them to let him come to a playmate's house for supper and to study (?) in the evening, and goodness knows that is often a hard proposition. It was made plain that the boys who are working in this drive and who were on hand at the supper at the "Y" last evening, want to make good and are slowly progressing. Now the thing is to make the progress more rapid and general. The question is "how?" Commander in Chief Niles gave the boys quite a boost in answering that question by calling for some lad to try to get him, Mr. Niles, to join the "Y." Tom Howland was chosen, and proved a right smart solicitor, finally overcoming Mr. Niles' objections and winning his membership. Another suggestion will help a lot, and that was that the boys go out in pairs, as the men always do.

Fathers May Aid.

That's all very good. But estimating some families where there are two or three brothers, there must be at least eighty fathers whose sons are working in this drive, and undoubtedly most of those fathers have been in drives themselves. Have you fathers taken the trouble to see how your boy was getting on at this, his brand new job, and giving him all the benefit of your experience. Are you backing him up, so he can come home as proudly as you did to report that his "division" went over the top?

On the other hand, if you are a father or mother whose boy is asked to join the "Y" are you going to receive your youthful visitors with an open mind, ready to listen to them tell what they have to tell you of their own experience as Y. M. C. A. boys? Are you going to be willing to save a few smokes, etc., so your boy can join now? And are you going to keep good natured if you have several calls between this and Saturday? For the lads working are in earnest now and will surely "Get you if you don't watch out," and we hope even if you do.

Drive Closes Saturday. Are you a Y. M. C. A. boy? If not why not? Too goody-goody for you? Just go over with some fellow once and see for yourself, without taking what somebody has told you and you'll change your tune to "Too good to be true!" "Can't afford it!" How many ice cream sodas would you have to cut out, to get all the fun and good times at the Y. M. C. A. at a cost of $4 or $5 for the whole year, and it can be arranged so you do not have to pay it all at once.

This is the boy's first drive for membership of boys. Let's all of us grown-ups stand behind the boys, explain, encourage and help so that they may always remember what a fine thing it was, even if they did have to work like sixty for a few days. Saturday night's supper closes the drive.

AUNT POLLY SHORT

81 Years Old Given Birthday Surprise By Fellow "Willing Workers." (Contributed).

On Saturday, March 1st, the "Willing Workers" of the High Woods Reformed Church went to Saugerties to surprise the oldest members of the Ladies Aid Society on her eighty-first birthday. Aunt Polly Short, who though now living there, is yet a "Willing Worker" and hearty supporter of her old church in every way.

Jason Longendyke and Lewis E. Snyder transferred the ladies down with their teams. The start was not as early as intended, but finally all were safely aboard and the wagons started with horns tooting, bells ringing and flags flying. Along the road people ran to see who and what was coming. Many hats, hands and handkerchiefs were waved back to them.

After the ladies arrived at the home of her daughter, Mrs. John Snyder, on Jane street, a telephone message was sent to Aunt Polly that somebody was at Violet's that wanted to see her. She was then at the home of another daughter, Mrs. Edgar Kroul, so she came over at once, and walked, as usual, into the kitchen, but did not see anybody. She then walked on to the next room. On opening the door she had a surprise indeed, as the "Willing Workers" all worked to get to Aunt Polly and greet her.

The next thing on the program was the bountiful dinner which came out of baskets and boxes. Mrs. Snyder and her neighbor upstairs had kindly set two long tables during the morning so it did not take long to fill up the dishes with "goodies" and soon twenty-six were seated at them. The Lord's prayer was repeated in concert by all present in the house, after which the inner man was filled. Those who had served the first tables found still plenty for themselves and to spare, and the rest of the dinner cake and cream was served as dessert. Later, the birthday cake, baked by the president of the "Willing Workers," Dora A. Snyder, was lighted, cut and passed to all guests present. It was decorated with 81 pink and white candles. The cake was trimmed with the same colors. A vase of pink and white carnations, while in the center of each table, while the eating of the dining room was decorated with the Reformed Church colors, blue and orange, the same colors of the badges worn by "Willing Workers" present. All too soon the word was given to get ready for the home-ward start, and amid hugs and kisses and all good wishes the "good-byes" were over and Aunt Polly was left waving until the loads passed around the corner, out of her sight. A good time was had on the way home, which was reached without any mishaps.

Twenty-three members were in the two loads. They were met at Mrs. Snyder's by two other members, residing in Saugerties at present, making twenty-five to give Aunt Polly a shower of cards and a $5 souvenir as their birthday present to her.

"Aunt Polly, may you many birthdays see. Is the wish of 'Willing Workers' to thee."

"Willing Workers" present were: Mrs. C. F. Snyder, Mrs. S. V. York, Mrs. Lewis E. Snyder, Mrs. Lansing Carle, Mrs. Winfield Snyder, Mrs. Jason Longendyke, Mrs. Emma York, Mrs. Alex Felten, Mrs. Lyman Carle, Mrs. Arthur Wolven, Mrs. Wilson Ackerman, Mrs. Charles Drabr, Mrs. Cyrus Longendyke, Mrs. Lewis York, Mrs. Edith M. Cole, Mrs. Celestia Every, Mrs. Philip Slater and the Misses Dora A. Snyder, Myrtle York, Emma France, Anna France, Mary A. France, Edna M. Kiersted, Maude Kiersted and Mary J. Carle. Nearly forty guests were present to join good cheer and best wishes.

MINOR IMPERFECTIONS

Being Remedied at Keeney Theater Fast as They Develop.

Since the opening of the new Keeney Theater there has been some adverse criticism regarding the pictures shown on the screen, that they did not show up as clear as might be expected. This matter is to be remedied at once according to Mr. Becker, the resident manager, who states that two new Mercury arcs are to be installed in a few days giving a light similar to sunlight. The side lights of the auditorium are to be changed to colored lamps which will prevent the glare annoying the patrons who sit in the side seats.

Mr. Becker also explained that the screen is the regulation size, the same as is used in the Rialto, Rivoli, Strand and other large moving picture houses in New York city. Owing to the rush to get the theater ready for the opening date, several little minor details were overlooked and these are being rapidly corrected so that patrons will have no fault to find with this play house in the future.
